PROFILE

When I'm not backpacking or finding my new favorite donut shop, you can usually find me in my studio, drawing up a new illustration, screen-printing a gig poster for a band coming through town, casting molds for a new horror-themed action figure, or working away at my computer on a new branding scheme for my corporate clients.

I've always been driven to create, and working in art and design has allowed me to that, while meeting interesting and creative people. My goal with any project is to collaborate with my clients until we achieve what they are looking for and make something truly...RAD!
